Abdullah khalid Alharbi   STD/4201666   M6

LAB1

In this Lab i learned how to set up PrestaShop for e-commerce, including installation, configuration, and management tasks such as understanding the dashboard, managing customers, analyzing stats, handling stocks, deactivating the shop temporarily, and cleaning the contents. Additionally , I have learned about configuring the store's localization, including currencies, languages, units, and taxes, as well as managing locations and tax rules.

Difficulties in LAB 1:

There was only one difficulty with this lab, which was that I downloaded the wrong version.

LAB 2

In This lab I learned how to effectively manage carriers and shipping methods in PrestaShop, accounting for various factors like transit time, handling costs, and regional pricing.

Difficulties in LAB 2:

In this lab we had difficulty in setting up shipping ranges based on region, weight, and price, as well as ensuring proper integration with carriers' billing and tax systems.

LAB 3

I learned how to add and manage categories and sub-categories in an e-commerce platform, including setting their attributes and uploading images to distinguish between them. This helps organize products for better customer navigation and search efficiency.

Difficulties in LAB 3:

It was organizing products into thier categories Because the products were in the user interface, interfering with each other.

LAB 4

This lab teaches how to effectively manage and organize brands and suppliers within PrestaShop. And link each supplier with its brand, enhancing product visibility and customer navigation.

Difficulties in LAB 4:

The difficulty we faced in this lab, was the description for each brand did not appear so we changed the laptop.

LAB 5

I learned how to manage product attributes and features to create variations and provide additional information and specifications about products in PrestaShop.

Difficulties in LAB 5:

The difficulty in this lab may be determining which attributes are necessary for product variations and which are best suited as features, it was difficult to differentiate between them.

LAB 6

I learned how to add various types of products with detailed attributes, combinations, and digital options in PrestaShop's interface.

Difficulties in LAB 6:

The difficulty in this lab may be handling the complexity of adding multiple products with different attributes and combinations, especially for us as beginners.

LAB 7

I learned to create customized discounts and vouchers, precisely aligning them with product categories, enhancing and optimizing the shopping experience and sales strategy.

Difficulties in LAB 7:

The challenge was to avoid conflicts and unintended discounts across different customer segments and products, and we faced it when we added a discount and it was extended to all products.

LAB 8

In this lab we learned how to import our project to another server and database.

Difficulties in LAB 8:

When we tried to import it again infront of the doctor it didn't work because we moved it to the wrong file and database.